SPORTING CLASSICS'

Autumn Collection
The Sporting Life is a celebration of gun dogs and horses, hunting and fishing as expressed through the rich and exuberant paintings of Joseph Sulkowski. Acclaimed as one of America’s premier dog and sporting artists, Sulkowski shares his personal conversation with the outdoor life in a style of Poetic Realism. Influenced and guided by the hands of the Old Masters, he creates fluid brushstrokes that imbue his canvases with a compelling blend of light, atmosphere, and spatial effects that bring his passion for the sporting life into vivid focus for the viewer.

Whether it’s still-lifes, dog paintings, or scenes of hunters and anglers, Joseph Sulkowski derives his inspiration from personal contact with the natural world. He carries out his visions through a lifelong discipline to his craft, in which hand-ground paints, carefully prepared oils and varnishes, and handcrafted linen canvases and gessoed panels play a vital role in the quality of each work of art.

All this and more about the immensely gifted artist is detailed by author Brooke Chilvers, one of the foremost experts on wildlife and sporting art. Altogether, the large-format, 240-page book features more than 180 paintings and dozens of sketches.

Collector’s Edition: Hardcover book with dust jacket. $60

Deluxe Edition: 350 leather-bound books signed & numbered by Joseph Sulkowski. $90

OUR SPORTING CLASSICS

BRASS BIG BOY RIFLE

Made entirely in America of all-American materials, the Henry rifle is an authentic link to our country’s past. From the steamboat to the airplane, there have been countless inventions that have changed the course of our history. The Henry rifle is one of them. Since its founding in 1860, Henry Repeating Arms Company has continued to produce rifles with the same quality and craftsmanship of those history-making repeaters. Which is why we asked them to build a rifle just for Sporting Classics.

Our new Sporting Classics Brass Big Boy Rifle showcases special engraving on its brightly polished and hardened receiver. Available in four calibers—.30-30, .44 Mag., .45 Long Colt, and .357 Mag.—the rifle’s 20-inch, traditional octagon steel barrel features brass fittings and a fully adjustable, semi-buckhorn rear sight with diamond insert. The straight-grip stock is fashioned from American walnut. Each rifle will have its own serial number, starting from SC001. Please allow 10-12 weeks for delivery.

Specially Priced at

For our 2018 Sporting Classics Knife of the Year, Arno Bernard Knives of Bethlehem, South Africa, is handcrafting a wonderful two-knife set.

Our African Hunter pairs up a Bohler N690 stainless-steel blade with a handle fashioned from warthog ivory. Measuring just over 7½ inches overall with a hollow-ground, drop-point blade of 3½ inches, this knife will serve equally well for field-dressing game or just to stimulate daydreams of Africa. The stunning crème-to-caramel coloring and subtle striations in the ivory combine to make each knife unique.

Our African Bush Knife can be your go-to blade for every sort of camp chore. Measuring 9¾ inches, it features a 5½-inch clip-point blade of Bohler N690 stainless steel that is heat-treated to 59-60 on Rockwell. The 4½-inch handle is made of rich African blackwood.

Each knife comes with a wrist thong hole complete with braided-leather "pigtail." The blades are finished to a warm, hand-rubbed luster and carry the maker's distinctive mark on the face side and "SC 1 of 75" on the reverse. Each knife is accompanied by a hand-fitted, top-grade leather sheath.

Twenty of each model will be available for immediate delivery beginning on October 1. Subsequent orders will be filled in six to eight weeks.

Collector's Edition: Hardcover book with dust jacket. $80
Deluxe Edition: 500 leather-bound books, signed & numbered by Paul Vartanian. $90

The Greatest Quail Hunting Book Ever
It's not just the title; it's the perfect description of its contents.

A big covey of great American authors are showcased in this fascinating, 368-page anthology featuring 38 stories from those halcyon days when sporting gentlemen pursued the noble bobwhite quail with their favorite shotguns and elegant canine companions.

The book opens with compelling tales by the literary giants from quail hunting's golden era, including Nash Buckingham, Robert Roark, Havilah Babcock, Archibald Rutledge, and Horatio Bigelow.

The second section presents reminiscences by sporting scribes of the modern era, among them Jack O'Connor, Gene Hill, Joseph Greenfield, Dave Henderson, and Mike Gaddis. The third section is comprised of unforgettable short stories on quail hunting and bird dogs by James Street, Bob Matthews, Dan O'Brien, and Caroline Gordon.

Collector's Edition: Hardcover book with dust jacket. $35

Perfect Gifts for the Discerning Sportsman
Lynn Bogue Hunt: Angler, Hunter, Artist

Acclaimed wildlife artist Lynn Bogue Hunt, who illustrated more national magazine covers than any other artist in history, is the focus of a beautiful new coffee-table book from Sporting Classics.

Angler, hunter, and above all artist, Lynn Bogue Hunt was America's most popular and prolific outdoor illustrator of the mid-20th century—the "Golden Age" of the American outdoors. He painted a record 106 covers for Field & Stream, illustrated dozens of books on waterfowling, upland bird hunting, and saltwater fishing, designed the 1939-40 Federal Duck Stamp, and was described by his friend Ernest Hemingway as "the finest painter of game birds that we have in America."

Lynn Bogue Hunt—Angler, Hunter, Artist showcases the complete collection of Hunt paintings acquired by New Jersey sportsman Paul Vartanian. Not only is it the world's largest collection of Hunt paintings, drawings, and memorabilia, but it's the largest and most complete collection of the work of any major sporting artist.

Along with a fascinating text by Sporting Classics Senior Editor Tom Davis, this big 9x12-inch book features some 150 iconic images that will thrill Hunt fans and be a revelation to those less familiar with this legendary artist.

Collector's Edition: Hardcover book with dust jacket. $80

The much-anticipated third book in artist John Seerey-Lester’s “Legends Series” relives in words and paint the exciting outdoor life of Theodore Roosevelt. With his descriptive text and 150 paintings and sketches, Seerey-Lester provides a fascinating glimpse into the former president’s life as a rancher and his unrelenting passion for wildlife, hunting, exploration, and conservation.

The large-format, 200-page book covers Roosevelt’s most active years as an outdoorsman from the 1870s until his death in 1919. It also relives the hunting and exploratory expeditions of his two sons in the Far East.

It opens with Roosevelt’s first deer hunt as a teenager, then continues chronologically as he pursues such dangerous game as grizzlies, lions, and elephants in North America and Africa. In Seerey-Lester’s rich paintings, you will feel the danger, taste the dust, and smell the campfire smoke.

In the foreword for this landmark book, Tweed Roosevelt, TR’s great-grandson, writes: “Seerey-Lester has an extraordinary ability to bring to life the high drama of the hunt. TR, of course, could supply him with an almost unending series of opportunities for displaying his unique artistry.”

Gallery Edition: Hardcover with dust jacket. $60

Hunter’s Edition: 350 copies, gold-embossed, leather-bound, signed & numbered by the artist. $150

The idea for Wild Accents was conceived thousands of years ago when early man decorated his crude dwellings with pictographs—collections of images of animals with which he shared the earth. Following this original inspiration, I created our Wild Accents line out of a desire to fill my own home with functional fine art. These twelve designs merge nature with contemporary elegance... — James Banovich

TIMOTHY HUTTO KNIVES

Timothy (Bubba) Hutto of Springfield, South Carolina, has always had a love for knifemaking, thought it wasn’t until a year ago that he fashioned his first blade. On several occasions over the years he was able to watch legendary knifemaker George Herron in his shop in Springfield, where the master bladesmith created his beautiful works of art.

Influenced by Herron, Bubba handcrafts his stainless-steel blades, which are meticulously heat-treated and tempered. For his handles he uses blackwood, rosewood, bird’s-eye maple, cherry, black walnut, and bone. His knife styles include straight points, drop points, skinners, fillets, and recurves.

“I want to pursue my knifemaking skills to the highest level I can achieve,” says the 39-year-old craftsman. “My wife and three children stand behind me in all that I do.”

All five of these knives reflect designs created by master knifemaker George Herron. Please allow 6 to 8 weeks for delivery.

A 16K W generator automatically provides electricity if power is interrupted.

Pine Grove Plantation, South Carolina

Two waterfront cabins provide a view of Baltimore-bound ships and watermen working the bay. From 40 feet up “Tow Cabins” gives you a view of the bay and the property. The fully-appointed “Beach Cabin” has a dock that stretches into the bay. Back Creek, located in the interior of Corrotok, contains a 100-acre oyster lease, which will transfer with the property and can be developed as an aquaculture business.

Corrotok is less than 4-hour drive from Richmond, Annapolis, and Washington DC, and a 6-hour drive from New York City. Fly into Accomack County’s airport in Melfa, which has a 1,300 runway, and you can be at Corrotok in 15 minutes.

Along with two waterfront cabins, this property includes Black Hole House, a historic (circa 1780) modernized, 5-bedroom waterfront home, a boat ramp, and five docks. One of the finest properties we’ve ever offered, Corrotok is priced at $3,150,000. For more photos and a video of the property, go to sportingclassicsdaily.com/corrotok.

“The Pica Zuro” Mesh Back Shirt

The Pica Zuro shirt is named after Pica Zuro Lodge, a wing shooter’s paradise in the heart of Argentina’s Cordoba region. In honor of the region’s famous dove shooting, we have created the perfect shirt for warm weather hunting. Constructed of a lightweight synthetic fabric that wicks away moisture for quick dry performance, the Pica Zuro shirt has a vented back that lets you keep your cool when the shooting gets hot. Available in long sleeve or short sleeve in cool rich, earth tone colors. The perfect companion for wherever the weather is warm, from Argentina to Alabama to Africa.
